Comments:

It turned out to be an excellent day for running. At 9.00 am it was only 2 to 3 degrees with mist everywhere. The mist lifted and as soon as the runners set off the sun poked its head out.

Paul Butler blasted off at the front with Gary Jones on his tail. By the time they had reached CP2 however Paul had opened a gap on the last part of the climb. The next four men had a battle for second place with Gary Jones faltering and Lewis Banton and Robert Addyman coming through. In the last quarter however Gary came back to life to pip Lewis on the last climb. Another new record then for Paul with all the first four men inside the old record.

In the women's event Shelli Gordon and her team mate Kay Neesam were never more than a yard apart throughout the race and decided to come in together to tie for first place. Unfortunately none of the womwn's teams were complete with many only fielding two counters. In the men's however Loftus and Whitby continued their recent good form to hold off the challenge of Esk Valley and North York Moors..... see you at the 'Moors' Dave
