Comments:

A night that was warm and wet. We dodged the rain but rainfall during the day and previously was very heavy. Consequently the going was very soft with plenty of mud. Land surveys made life difficult with miles of cable everywhere. In the race Lewis Rodgers was soon in the lead following the helter skelter descent to Maybeck. Likewise Catherine Williamson was quickly away in the womens section. Both negotiated the course at speed to record comfortable victories. These are of course new records because of the course changes. However after some discussion at the finish it was thought we might look at starting at 'Falling Foss' to replace the opening road section with what is essentially a woodland route. In the team race Loftus and Whitby were clear winners from Esk Valley with no completed teams in the women's section.

It was a little unfortunate that two other events managed to pick the same date which I would think reduced each field. Hope to see you at The Cock Howe in a few weeks. If anyone has any comments about races in The Summer or Winter Series, that might improve these events please let me know by August 2012 as the 2013 fixture list will be discussed in early September before submission of applications for permits from The FRA in October....

Best wishes Dave Parry.
