Comments:

Another excellent night for running with sunshine and a cool breeze on the top. Ground varied between very wet/boggy to hard. The leaders in the men's race shot away as usual with the main suspects being Paul Butler, Cameron Taylor, Nick Barber and Ian McGrath. This soon settled on the long climb up to a line of athletes which I am pleased to say all reported at CP1. I'm not sure what happened as they came back up to the telecommunications centre but runners disappeared on some different tracks after CP5 - which is the last compulsory intermediate check..

The women's race was much the same with Kay Neesam soon gaining a lead over Ali Raw as they got into the long climb. Hester Cox and Lorraine Laycock were the nearest other chasers. In the men Paul managed to leave Cameron on the very last section to go on to win. In the women's it was Kay Neesam coming home a comfortable winner.

In the team events The Women's was the most exciting with three teams all within a point of each other. It was Thirsk & Sowerby led by Hester Cox who grabbed the win from North York Moors and New Marske. In the men's event Loftus & Whitby were comfortable winners from North York Moors and Esk Valley. Well done to Esk Valley for finishing the most complete teams. There will be a little more exploration next year before the event to sharpen up the most efficient descent!. ..... see you at Whorlton - Swainby in two weeks ... Dave
